Modern Northwest Ranch with Warm Contemporary Lines

This three-bedroom, 2.5-bath modern ranch pairs clean architectural lines with timeless materials. A mix of lap and vertical cedar siding softens the exterior, while large windows and vaulted ceilings bring natural light deep into the home.

The open great room centers the design—connecting seamlessly to the kitchen, dining area, and rear courtyard. A large island and walk-in pantry make the kitchen ideal for entertaining, while a private den offers space for work or reading. The master suite includes a generous walk-in closet and spa-style bath, separated from the secondary bedrooms for privacy.

With 2,235 sq ft of main-floor living, a rear-entry two-car garage, and expansive covered patios, this design blends refined simplicity with livable comfort—perfect for families, empty nesters, or vacation living on a scenic corner or view lot.

The Bradleys' Story

After years of city life, Mark and Elena Bradley wanted a home that felt like an escape without leaving the community they loved. They found it in this modern cedar ranch—open, bright, and surrounded by nature.

Mark, a photographer, uses the rear-facing office to capture light-filled mornings, while Elena loves how the courtyard and patio flow directly from the great room—ideal for evening dinners under string lights. The low-slope roofline and warm cedar detail remind them of the coastal retreats they used to visit on weekends.

Now, every day feels like a getaway. Their mornings begin with coffee on the covered porch, afternoons in the garden, and evenings gathered around the courtyard fire pit, their home glowing softly in the twilight. For the Bradleys, this house is the perfect balance of modern design and grounded, quiet living.
